Total & Partial Permanent Disability Benefit

This booklet is numbered RD(IX)

1. Benefits

If the Scheme Member becomes,

(A) totally disabled (defined below) as a result of an accident and remains totally disabled for a period of twenty six weeks (the deferred period) then the Insurer will pay an amount as specified in the Schedule to the Policy Holder for the benefit of that Scheme Member if the Insurer is satisfied that he is totally and permanently disabled (defined below).

If after twenty six weeks the Insurer is not satisfied that the Scheme Member is totally and permanently disabled then the Insurer may extend the deferred period in order to establish the validity of the claim.

The maximum amount payable in respect of this benefit is Rs. 1,00,00,000.

The amount payable would be reduced by the amount(s) already paid in respect of partial permanent disability due to the same accident.

The Insurer will pay the total permanent disability benefit only if all of the following are satisfied:

- all due premiums (including those which will fall due during the deferred period) have been paid
- the total and partial permanent disability benefit commenced prior to, and has not terminated prior to, the date of the accident
- the total and partial permanent disability benefit commenced prior to, and has not terminated prior to, the date of the total disability
- the Scheme Member becomes totally disabled within 180 days of the accident
- the Policy Holder informs the Insurer within 60 days of the date of total disability of the Scheme Member
- the Policy Holder produces satisfactory evidence that the Scheme Member has suffered and continues to suffer a total permanent disability when the Insurer asks for it

- the Policy Holder files the claim with the Insurer in the form prescribed by the Insurer and accompanied by all relevant documents as may be required by the Insurer, within 180 days from the date of total disability.

(B) partially disabled (defined below) as a result of an accident and remains partially disabled for a period of twenty six weeks (the deferred period) then the Insurer will pay an amount as specified in the Schedule to the Policy Holder for the benefit of that Scheme Member if the Insurer is satisfied that he is partially and permanently disabled.

If after twenty six weeks the Insurer is not satisfied that the Scheme Member is partially and permanently disabled then the Insurer may extend the deferred period in order to establish the validity of the claim.

The Insurer will pay the partial permanent disability benefit only if all of the following are satisfied:

- all due premiums (including those which will fall due during the deferred period) have been paid
- the total and partial permanent disability benefit commenced prior to, and has not terminated prior to, the date of the accident
- the total and partial permanent disability benefit commenced prior to, and has not terminated prior to, the date of the partial disability
- the Scheme Member becomes partially disabled within 180 days of the accident
- the Policy Holder informs the Insurer within 60 days of the date of partial disability of the Scheme Member
- the Policy Holder produces satisfactory evidence that the Scheme Member has suffered and continues to suffer a partial permanent disability when the Insurer asks for it
- the Policy Holder files the claim with the Insurer in the form prescribed by the Insurer and accompanied by all relevant documents as may be required by the Insurer, within 180 days from the date of partial disability.
